GUEST SPEAKER

Jason Wang, BSBA '09

Born in Xi'an, China and raised in New York City, Jason Wang attended college with plans to pursue a corporate career. Meanwhile, his father, a veteran of Chinese kitchens, opened the first Xi'an Famous Foods in 2005 to sell dishes based on family recipes. Wang watched his father's restaurant begin to thrive—at one point, even experimenting with dishes in his WashU dorm room. After earning multiple majors in finance, marketing, entrepreneurship and international business from WashU, Wang pursued a brief career in the corporate world. But as he saw more potential in his father's business, he was eager to help the restaurant grow. Wang threw himself fully into Xi'an Famous Foods, learning every aspect of the business from the ground up. Since 2009, he has expanded the hole-in-the-wall chain to multiple locations in the New York City area. Through these restaurants, Wang brings a dining experience that appeals to Chinese families that come to eat expecting authenticity and to everyday Americans looking to explore new flavors. Through his work at Xi'an Famous Foods, he was nominated for many honors, including the James Beard Outstanding Restaurateur of 2020, Zagat's 30 Under 30 listee, Forbes 2014 30 Under 30 listee, Crain's 2014 40 Under 40 listee and Eater.com 2013 Young Gun. In 2020, Xi'an Famous Foods released an acclaimed cookbook featuring the recipes of its most popular dishes and more, along with raw stories of how the brand came to be.

REID TEACHING AWARDS

A longtime benefactor of Olin Business School, James W. Reid, BSBA '28, with his wife, Marcile, established the Reid Teaching Awards in 1994 to recognize teaching excellence. The impact of the Reids' benevolence and commitment to Olin will continue to be felt by generations of students, faculty, alumni and friends. The Reid Teaching Awards are presented by Olin's graduating class to the professor whose enthusiasm and exceptional teaching most inspire, energize and transform our students.
