GUEST SPEAKER

Chandler Malone, AB 2018

As a second-year student at WashU, Chandler Malone, AB 2018, launched his first startup, a business initially intended to bring in a little extra cash and host events for his friends. When the business generated over $250,000 in revenue by booking artists like The Chainsmokers for his events, he was inspired to stick with entrepreneurship. That led to a social-based ticketing platform he eventually sold, which then led him to become a venture capitalist at SixThirty Global FinTech Fund and later Atento Capital.

Chandler, the three-time entrepreneur, is now building Bootup and The Family. At Bootup, Chandler and his team have helped more than 2,500 individuals get their first jobs in tech for upwards of $200 million in annualized salaries. Bootup has raised $2.1 million in outside capital. Through The Family, Chandler has invested in eight underrepresented founders with an estimated market cap of more than $250 million.

Malone moved to Tulsa, Oklahoma, in January 2020, the home of a thriving entrepreneurial community known as Black Wall Street before it was destroyed in a racist 1921 massacre. Much of his work is targeted at inspiring Black entrepreneurship in that community and beyond.

As a WashU student, Malone was a John B. Ervin Scholar, played for the men's varsity basketball team, won the Skandalaris Cup for entrepreneurship, directed the WashU Tech Entrepreneurs Venture Capital speaker series and served as an executive board member for the Linus Foundation, a children and family services nonprofit.

REID TEACHING AWARDS

A longtime benefactor of Olin Business School, James W. Reid, BSBA '28, with his wife, Marcile, established the Reid Teaching Awards in 1994 to recognize teaching excellence. The impact of the Reids' benevolence and commitment to Olin will continue to be felt by generations of students, faculty, alumni and friends. The Reid Teaching Awards are presented by Olin's graduating class to the professors whose enthusiasm and exceptional teaching most inspire, energize and transform our students.
